Dear Jeff:

Thanks so much for the smashing performance of "Uncrapify Your Life" at our 2010 Managers Forum. Your spot-on parody of motivational speakers—coupled with some serious and heartfelt advice on how to treat those close to us—was a big hit with participants.

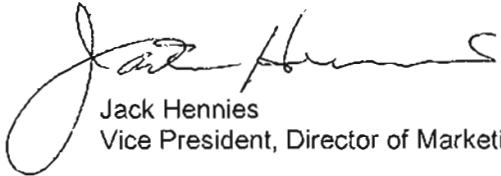

Your evaluations were off the scale, and it is clear our managers appreciated an opportunity to relax, laugh, and enjoy a well-deserved break from the serious work of the Managers Forum.

Especially appreciated was your ability to seamlessly weave details about our firm into your delivery.

Everything about your work with us was professional, well-managed, and extremely FUNNY!

Best wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely,

Jack Hennes

Dear Jeff,

Thank you so much for entertaining our engineering firm for our Christmas party in December. You are a pleasure to work with and I am so very happy that our "Fun Committee" was able to convince the owner to have entertainment again this year and agree to hire a comedian. You had us all "In Stitches", as my co worker/friend said after the party. Your version of making fun of motivational speakers was absolutely hilarious! I have been dragged through many motivational seminars and team building meetings and they truly, truly drain me. So I was falling out of my chair laughing at all of the stuff you came up with.

Thanks again Jeff and we will recommend you in the future and hey, you could very well be asked back for some of our future company events.

Take care,

Dear Jeff,

Jeff, your performance to kick off our International Sales Meeting this week was outstanding. It delivered the perfect balance of motivation and laughter in an environment where both are needed and appreciated.

The message resonated with the array of nationalities that we had present and with the diverse functional responsibilities in the room.

During the course of the meeting I have had several members of our team thank me for including your program in the agenda and I have passed along your contact information and a recommendation to several other business associates.

Thanks again for working with us on the schedule and for the extremely professional job!

Good luck with the new material you are developing – we look forward to hearing it at a future event.

Jeff,

Thank you!

As you know, we have never had a light comedic type speaker at our meetings before ... you were kind of a trial for us and we weren't quite sure how it would be received -- well lo and behold you were a hit! Everyone just raved about you, couldn't stop laughing ... you were just wonderful, and really set the tone of the meeting. It was fun throughout the rest of the conference having everybody use sayings and phrases from your presentation to each other ... kind of like inside jokes.

We will definitely refer you!!! If you like, feel free to have anyone call for a reference.

Do you have other material to use for future meetings? We have our convention every year and would love to use you again.

Thank you again for a hilarious, entertaining, great opening presentation!

Keep in touch, and good luck -- it was a wonderful experience working with you!
