

Jeff Havens

Introduction

Our next speaker is incredibly awesome and has presented in over 63 states. A regular guest on Fox Business News, Jeff has spoken to several Fortune 500 companies and has been featured in Business Week, The Wall Street Journal, CNBC, and most importantly, Good Housekeeping. Fortune Magazine recently named him the 'Best Person in the History of People,' and in high school he was voted "Most Likely To Become America's First King." He is huge in Belgium, Zanzibar, and any other country you've never been to. And while it is true that some of this introduction is fake, it's also true that some of it isn't. He's here today to help us do things better by telling us how to do them really, really badly, and he promises that you're going to stay awake. We're very lucky to have him here today, since he just got approved for work release. Ladies and gentlemen, please help me welcome Jeff Havens.